CV content description

My name is Angelina Bogdanova - I am an experienced business analyst in a project management looking for new challenges and opportunities in my career. I have been recently working for more than two years at Project Management Organization as Business Analyst (Project Planning and Control). There I was working closely with both engineering teams from all over the world and project managers to ensure that the budget, scope and schedule are correct and aligned. From the program management perspective, I was responsible for both planning cost and schedule, and then controlling.

Experience

01.11.2017 – 01.02.2017

Apprise Software Market Research

Was responsible for US market reseach aiming at finding potential customers for ERP software developed by the company.

01.02.2018 – 01.02.2020

Honeywell International Project Planning and Control

Was responsible for analytical part of multiple opportunities in bid and proposal portfolio (250+ projects for 9 different customer groups). I was in charge of project planning and internal reporting to upper management including VPs. Worked closely with project teams (project managers and engineering leads) to ensure budgets and scope of opportunities are aligned with the plan. Used to work in an international team from Mexico, USA, China, India, France and Canada. The most frequently used tools were SAP, Salesforce, Accolade, MS Project and Excel.
